Troops in BAJA, SZEGED, KISKUNHALAS and KISKUNMAJSA: 1955/561. BAJA: 1956

The following units were stationed at BAJA: (See sketch at Appendix "A").

a) Infantry Unit

25X1

The barracks housing this unit are marked (a) on the sketch at Appendix "A" and are also sketched at Appendix "B".

i) Description of buildings, as set out in appendix "B":

Headquarters and offices, marked (a)

Four living quarters buildings, marked (b)

Club and cookhouse, marked (c)

Weapon and ammunition stores, marked (d)

Garages, marked (e)

Ration and clothing stores, marked (f)

ii) Approximately 2,000 men were billeted in these barracks, which are commanded by Lt.Col. KOVACS f.n.u.

25X1

This force of 2,000 included:

25X1

A battalion of three rifle companies

An SMG company (30 MAXIM MGs)

A mortar company (12 82 mm mortars on wheels)

A heavy mortar company (8 120 mm mortar)

A battery of 8 45 mm and 6 7.62 cm anti-tank weapons

The rifle companies were approximately 100 strong, armed with some 70 rifles, 25 SMGs, 3 MAXIM MGs, and 12 50 mm mortars (portable).

b) Anti-tank Unit

25X1

i) The unit was located in a requisitioned monastery, marked (b) on sketch "A", opposite the church.

ii) Approximately 200 soldiers were observed in the barracks area.

iii) The Unit had 12 7.62 cm anti-tank guns and 12 45 mm anti-tank guns.

c) Engineer Unit

The Unit contained approximately 400 soldiers billeted in the barracks marked (c) on Sketch "A", and a further 400 men living in the training grounds on the DANUBE bank, as shown at (d) on Sketch "A".

i) The barracks are recently-built, and consist of two brick buildings, located on both sides of the street as shown on the sketch.

ii) The training grounds had a wooden hut camp and stores of pontoons on the auxiliary stream.

iii) Two types of pontoons were observed:

Approximately 60 wooden pontoons, medium size, approximately 4 metres long, carried by 4 men

25X1

Approximately 30 rubber pontoons, oval in form, approximately 4 by 3 metres, carrying 8-10 persons. The air was pumped in by the engine where a plug was removed and a rubber pipe inserted.

iv) Twelve motor-boats, 5 of them with built-in engines, and 9 with out-board motors were tied up in the channel within the camp area.

v) Bridge-building exercises were also observed in the channel. Approximately 150 men were divided into parties which dug out earth for the approach road, carried pontoons, bound them together, and put on timber for the bridge way. Exercises with wooden pontoon bridges only were observed. The bridge was always built from one side of the channel to the other, never simultaneously from both sides, and no motor-boats were used when building a bridge. Infantry on foot and vehicles up to 3-tons only were allowed to use the crossing. No A.F.V. could have possibly used this type of pontoon bridge. No exercises were carried out to bridge the main DANUBE stream.
